Better Life Television
Some viewers lost our signal because the FCC sold T-Mobile's better Life’s better channel frequencies. As a result, we are being forced to change channel numbers in certain areas. It will take us a little time to figure out if new equipment is needed and how much money we will have to raise to get these stations back on the air. We appreciate your patience as we work through this new challenge, and invite your prayerful support. For more details and a list of possible work arounds, please visit BLBN.org.
